

Father Of Four Admits Lansing Bottle Murder

Lansing, June 28 (P)—The beer bottle slaying of Walter (Peewee) Eaton was marked solved today as Dudley Beatty, 29, confessed his guilt in municipal court.

"You ought to do the same thing to me as I did to him," Beatty had told police officers before he was taken to court. His statement was taken as a plea for a death penalty.

On Beatty's waiver of municipal court examination, Municipal Judge Paul C. Younger bound him over to circuit court for arraignment on a murder charge at 1:30 p. m. today.

Beatty's waiver of examination was tantamount to a guilty plea. An examination by a state sanitary board is mandatory before final sentence is passed.

Police Inspector Paul Taylor reported earlier that Beatty's fingerprints checked with one of the prints on the broken beer bottle which was used to kill and mutilate the boy Thursday night.

Taylor said also that Beatty had been questioned twice by Lansing detectives before he walked into the police station yesterday and gave himself up.

Beatty, a father of four small sons, lived within a block of the scene of the slaying. The boy was killed within four blocks of the state capitol.

Haggard and nervous, Beatty walked into police headquarters yesterday.

"I want to give myself up," he said.

Police Inspector Paul Taylor said that Beatty, an unemployed factory worker, then blurted out a story of luring "Peewee" to his death Thursday night in a dark vacant lot.

The urchin's throat was slashed with a broken beer bottle. Authorities said he also was abused sexually.

"I knew him and his family. I don't know why I did it," Taylor said Beatty told him.

"I don't know," he repeated. "I'd been drinking."

Estranged from his own family,

PEEWEE EATON

Beatty has lived in a cheap rooming house a block from Walter's home.

He knew Walter's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Eaton, and had been drinking beer earlier that night with the boy's real father, Alfred Jones.

The Eatons had adopted Walter as an infant to help the family when in straitened circumstances.

Inspector Taylor said Beatty did not admit in his statement a sexual offense against Walter but conceded that he might have made "improper advances."

Beatty gave himself up at the very time that four chums of Walter, acting as pall bearers, were carrying their playmate's body to its grave in funeral services.

Barden Bill On Education Aid Attacked

By BARNEY L. LIVINGSTONE

Washington, June 28 (P)—Deep-seated differences over federal aid to education erupted in Congress today in a bitterly worded exchange yesterday between Reps. Barden (D-NC) and Lesinski (D-Mich.).

Lesinski, chairman of the House Labor committee controlling Education bill, accused Barden of writing an "anti-Negro and anti-Catholic" substitute and of trying to "kill aid for education once and for all."

Barden countered in a prepared statement with a charge that Lesinski had made "a false statement" unsupported by fact. "I do not know where Mr. Lesinski got his inspiration for making such statements, unless it was because some similar statements have been accredited to some high officials of his church," he asserted angrily.

New Measure Planned

Barden's reference to church officials was directed at an attack on his bill last week by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, who termed it "un-Catholic" and "un-American."

The bill, a substitute for a Senate-passed measure, was approved 10 to 3 by Barden's Labor subcommittee.

But Lesinski told reporters yesterday the substitute "is dead."

After the house returns from its July 4 holiday, Lesinski said, the labor committee will be called to consider a new bill fashioned along the lines of the measure passed by the senate.

The Senate measure would make available $350,000,000 a year in grants to assist the states. Each state would be allowed funds at the rate of $5 per pupil, plus additional aid up to $29 for the so-called "backward" states.

Barden's substitute also provides $5 per pupil, but makes other sharply differing provisions.

It provides that the money may be spent only for "current expenditures," specifically prohibiting expenditures for transportation and health and welfare activities. And it says the aid must go only to public schools.

This was one of the chief targets of Cardinal Spellman, who saw it as a ban on federal assistance to parochial and other sectarian and private schools.

Operators Reject Lewis Proposal Of 3-Day Work Week

By HAROLD W. WARD

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., June 28 (P)—Coal operators of the north and west were reported ready to reject today John L. Lewis' offer to forego a strike next month in return for a three-day work week.

The operators took a vote on the question yesterday in a private huddle in Pittsburgh.

There was little doubt of their answer—that they could not agree because of the legal risks. They fear that if they join the union in limiting the work week, they would run the chance of government action under the anti-trust laws, on the ground it would restrain trade.

But many operators here and elsewhere seemed to like the idea. They said privately that they might go for it if it could be accomplished without legal risk, or without committing them too much to giving Lewis control over the industry's output.

On the other hand, a spokesman for the Central Pennsylvania Coal association said his group was against the proposal because it was "too costly." He said mines would have to be kept in shape for full production, although actually operating only at about 50 per cent capacity.

Publicly, the operators and Lewis wouldn't even discuss the plan. The operators planned to hand their formal answer to Lewis when the bargaining conference resumes here at 3 p. m. (EST).

There were reports that some sort of a counter-proposal would be offered by the bushy-browed union leader.

Rail Strikers Back On Jobs In Berlin

Big Four Again Tackles Economic Deadlock

Berlin, June 28 (P)—Berlin's 38-day rail tieup came to an end today as strikers went back to their jobs and the Soviet-directed management resumed control of the West Berlin stations.

Traffic did not resume immediately. The management prepared to direct test runs over the tracks which had been idle since May 21, when 14,000 anti-Communist employees struck.

Western railroaders said a few hours work on signals, switches and turn-up trackage was needed to get the freight yards in service again.

The Soviet management said it would have to send inspection teams around before allowing either inter-zonal freight trains or the city's elevated trains to roll.

The four occupation powers meanwhile got ready for another try at breaking Germany's economic deadlock.

The deputy military governors of the United States, Britain, France and Russia prepared to hold their first meeting of this series today. They are acting on orders put out by the Big Four foreign ministers council in Paris last week.

Injunctions May Be Kept In Labor Law

Washington, June 28 (P)—The Taft plan to deal with national emergency strikes by both court orders and plant seizure today survived a Senate test by two votes.

Washington, June 28 (P)—The Senate today rejected a straight out proposal to keep Taft-Hartley law injunctions against national emergency strikes.

It was 54 to 37. The vote was a preliminary victory for the Truman administration in the Senate scrap over a new labor law.

But it came in a parliamentary situation leaving a chance that senators wanting to keep this provision of the T-H law might yet finally win.

While the first round went to the administration group, at least one and possibly two more hurdles remained.

The first vote was on an amendment sponsored by Senator Holland (D-Fla.) and others. It simply proposed to keep the provision of the present law which lets the government get court orders to block strikes imperiling the national health or safety.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has pending a proposal to keep the court orders but also provide for government seizure of plants in some circumstances.

Grand Rapids Auto Dealer Gets Prison For Forging Title

Grand Rapids, June 28 (P)—Allen Mansfield, 36, used car dealer, was sentenced to prison for five to 14 years in superior court yesterday on the admitted charge of forging a motor vehicle title.

He had confessed being trapped in a pyramid of auto sales in which proceeds from the sale of one motorist's car were used to pay the premium purchase price promised another.

Canadian Election Won By Liberals In Landslide Vote

By BEN BASSETT

Toronto, June 28 (P)—The Liberal party of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent was won a smashing political victory reminiscent of the 1936 landslide of the Roosevelt New Deal.

Returns today from the national election showed the Liberals—Canada's nearest equivalent to the Democrats—had won 193 of the 262 seats in a new House of Commons. They led in all provinces but Alberta. It was the greatest party triumph in Canadian history.

The Progressive Conservatives, the main opposition party, took 42 seats. The other common members will come from minor parties.

The Canadian party dominating the House of Commons names the government. The Liberals now have a mandate until 1954. They will run their incumbency to 19 years—they took over from the Conservatives in 1935.

It was a personal triumph for St. Laurent, who has been in politics only eight years. The soft-spoken French-Canadian, 67 years old, assumed the prime minister's office last November when W. L. Mackenzie King bowed out because of ill health. King personally selected St. Laurent to lead the Liberals to victory—and the staunch conservative could admit to-day that King was smart.

St. Laurent, in a broadcast to the people, promised to work for peace and prosperity—and Liberal party aims. One of these is to extend social security measures to include a system of contributory health insurance. Canada's present social security system encompasses several measures similar to those enacted in the United States—and also a "baby bonus" that pays all parents about $5 a month toward each child's support.

George Drew, former premier of Ontario, spearheaded the losing Conservative drive. He conducted a vigorous campaign but Canadians apparently looked at their relative prosperity—and then looked the other way.

The Liberals won 56 of 83 seats in Ontario. They took 68 of 73 in Quebec, where Drew was backed by Premier Maurice Duplessis and Camille Houde, Montreal mayor (Houde, running as an independent, won election to commons).

There were 245 seats in the last commons, and the Liberals held 125. The greatest triumph ever for a party, until yesterday, was in 1940. That year the Liberals took 178 of 245 seats.

The Social Credit party, which governs Alberta, won 10 seats yesterday against the Liberals' five. The Socialists (Co-operative Commonwealth Federation) took 12 seats in five provinces. Independents took the remaining five.

All 19 Communist candidates lost. So did all the 15 women running.

Traffic Death Toll Drops In Michigan

Lansing, June 28 (P)—The state police reported the Michigan traffic death toll declined in May for the second successive month.

The report said 104 persons were killed, 21 fewer than in the same month last year.

In May, there were 3,518 persons injured in traffic accidents and 11,154 accidents, both one per cent more than the same month of 1948.

The police said 499 persons have been killed on the highways in the first five months of the year, a four per cent increase over the same period, injuries totaled 14,682 or three per cent higher than a year ago. The total of 55,595 accidents was four per cent lower than last year.

Chicago Jail Holds Pint-Sized Romeo, Deep In Legal Woes

Chicago, June 28 (P)—Sigmund Engel, the pint-sized, over-aged Romeo, who claims he swindled women all over the world of more than a million dollars, was up to his snow white hair in legal woes today.

Chicago courts had legal priority on the dapper, internationally known swindler. Prosecutors had him in jail under heavy bond and intended to keep him there until they send him to prison.

But in case the 73 year old smooth talking (to women) Engel wiggles out of the charges against him here, women who fell victim to his sweet talk in other cities have charges against him.

Romance Costs $8,700

Engel, although confident he will soon be free, was involved in three fast moving legal proceedings yesterday. He appeared in felony court on a confidence game charge which was placed against him by Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39 year old widow.

The courtroom was packed with women but the little man who says he has been charming women all over the world with his smooth talk and roses, didn't have a word to say. However, he had been talking quite a bit since he was seized by police Friday in a trap baited by a 55-year-old widow, who was suspicious of his big money talk.

Engel stood mute as the red-haired Mrs. Corrigan told of the little man's whirlwind courtship early this month. But she said the romance ended with her waiting at the altar and Engel on the loose with $8,700 she had given him.

Mrs. Corrigan went ahead with her plans to prosecute her former suitor although he returned $5,000 of the money.

Largest Lakes Ship Set For Launching

Inland Steel Ore Boat 678 Feet Long

Lorain, O., June 28 (P)—The Wilfred Sykes, largest ship ever built on the Great Lakes—678 feet long and 70 feet wide—was ready for launching today.

It is being built at the plant of the American Ship Building Co. here for Inland Steel Co., of Chicago.

The huge craft will be christened by Mrs. Wilfred Sykes, wife of the chairman of the board.

The vessel, which will be completed in time for some trips late in this Great Lakes navigation season, will carry approximately 22,000 long tons of ore at full draft. The average 600 foot lake freighter now carries around 14,000 tons of ore.

The vessel will be the fastest freighter on the lakes with a maximum speed of 16.5 miles an hour. It will make the trip from Duluth, Minn., to Chicago in less than three days at maximum speed. Present freighters now operate at around 12 miles an hour.

Geared turbines will generate 7,000 horse power. The vessel will be fitted with the latest in navigation devices. It will carry radar, ship-to-shore telephones, gyro compass, radio and television.

Tripp of Allegan To Be Lieutenant Governor Candidate

Lansing, June 28 (P)—Senator Harold D. Tripp (R-Allegan) will announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor Thursday, his friends reported today.

Tripp's announcement was expected at a dinner meeting of the Southwestern Michigan Republican association near Galesburg Thursday night.

The Allegan senator, a former druggist, has served three terms in the Senate and this session was president pro tempore of the chamber.

Mme. Chiang Brings U. S. A. Cash To Help Nationalist China

Canon, June 28 (P)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, the retired president of Nationalist China, is scheduled to arrive here from Formosa tomorrow.

There was an unconfirmed report that Madame Chiang may return from the United States on July 8. This report said she may bring $1,000,000 U. S. to help the faltering Nationalist cause against the Communists.

Race Issue May Tangle House Vote

Amendment Proposed To Bar Segregation

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, June 28 (P)—The house raced today toward final action on a vast housing bill, with only one snag apparent in the path of hard-driving administration leaders.

While Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) predicted passage of the measure by a "substantial margin," Rep. Spence (D-Ky), leading the administration forces on the floor, saw signs of trouble ahead in the announced plans of one lawmaker to raise the race issue in the housing fight.

Rep. Marcantonio (AL-NY) said he was ready to present an amendment barring segregation in publicly-owned housing projects.

Spence, chairman of the House Banking committee, declared: "If somebody wants to scuttle the bill, that is the way to do it. If it gets into the bill it would have the effect of beating it. A friends of the bill would not offer such an amendment. Let them bring this issue up in separate legislation."

Marcantonio's amendment would bar discrimination in the construction, sale, rent or tenancy of public housing because of race, color, creed or national origin.

Coalition Smothered

The senate, before it passed the Housing bill April 21, beat back a somewhat similar amendment after a long wrangle—with leaders of Mr. Truman's Civil Rights program sparking the fight against it.

Apart from the race issue, the housing measure apparently had smooth sailing ahead in the house.

Administration forces grabbed complete control yesterday, smothering a Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, and beat back all efforts to substitute or amend the administration bill.

The opposing Republicans were badly split between a group wanting a compromise bill and those wanting no bill at all. And not as many southerners joined the opposition as some had expected.

These were major provisions of the bill as it stood after yesterday's debate:

1. The federal government would contribute up to $308,000,000 a year for 40 years toward construction by local authorities

Hot Weather Belt Gets Cool Breezes

Crops Freeze In Idaho, Wilt In Northeast

(By The Associated Press)

Cool air and rain brought temporary relief to many areas in the nation's hot weather belt today.

The dry-stricken northeastern states didn't get much rain to help the wilting crops, but cooling breezes from the Hudson Bay region broke a long hot spell in many sections.

Rain over many midwest states also brought temporary relief from the hot humid weather. Heavy falls were reported in parts of Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska.

Cold weather covered most of Idaho and the mercury dipped to below freezing in central Oregon. Wheat crops were believed damaged by frost in central Oregon. The cold blackened potato and pea vines and nipped wheat and other crops in eastern Idaho.

Readings of 24 above were reported at Fairfield and Island Park, in eastern Idaho. But it reached the 90's over the midwest, south and east. The day's top mark was 103 at Presidio, Tex.

King Leopold Loses Chance For Return To Belgian Throne

Brussels, Belgium, June 28 (P)—King Leopold's chances of returning to the Belgian throne were blasted by Sunday's election.

Final parliamentary election returns, issued yesterday, showed that the Social Christian (Catholic) party, supporting Leopold, failed to get the absolute majority they needed to force a referendum to bring back the king.

They strengthened their position as Belgium's biggest party, though, winning 104 of the 212 seats in the chamber of deputies. This represented a gain of 12 over the 1946 elections.

The Socialists, who have ruled the country in a coalition cabinet with the Social Christians, continued in second place. They won 66 seats, a loss of three seats.

The Liberals—a conservative group—almost doubled their strength, emerging with 30 seats. They had 17.

This swing to the right, which observers have noted in most recent European elections, was emphasized by the Communist loss of 11 seats. They now have 12.

The Democratic Union lost its only seat in the chamber.

The old parliament had 202 chamber seats. Belgian law calls for one deputy for each 40,000 persons, however, so the population rise since 1946 has increased the number to 212.

Women voted in this election for the first time in Belgium.

The future of the royal house is in doubt. Many advisers have been urging Leopold to abdicate in favor of his son, Prince Baudouin, Duke of Brabant, in order to give the Belgians an active monarch. The king's brother, Prince Charles, presently reigns as regent.

Leopold was accused of being too friendly towards the Germans after they overran Belgium during World War II.

So says President Bob Landry of the Motion Picture Photographers' Association, which had the difficult task of making the selection from a considerable array of talent.

Although it was ten years ago that Lana Turner was crowned the first sweater queen, she still ranked in second place this week. However, said Landry yesterday, "Jane edged her out because, on looking the situation over carefully, we decided that she has the greatest amount of chest appeal."

Delta's Equalized Value Boosted To $27,002,848

The Delta county board of supervisors in meeting yesterday increased the equalized value of Delta county to a total of $27,002,848, sufficient taxable base to operate county government in the ensuing year unless there is a sharp boost in the welfare load in Delta.

Last year the total real and personal property valuation of the county was $26,270,125, making the increase this year $732,723.

Equalization was recommended to the board following a study by the equalization committee, and its recommendation was unanimously adopted. Equalization is between the 14 townships and the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone.

To arrive at the higher total this year the assessed values as reported by the several units were boosted only in Escanaba township, and in the cities of Gladstone and Escanaba. The assessed values in the other 13 townships were equalized as reported by the township boards of review.

There was considerable discussion by the supervisors of the variable percentage of true cash value used by the assessors in the various units. Mayor Walter Lied and Assessor Wynand Nieuwenkamp of Gladstone declared that the percentage should be uniform for all assessing units. They pointed out that Gladstone's assessed value is 85 per cent of cash value, while Escanaba and some of the townships use an 80 per cent of cash value.

Although the increase in equalized value is higher than in several years, it does not reach the county's value as equalized by the state tax commission. The state's recommended figure for Delta is $28,600,000.

To achieve the higher equalized value the supervisors boosted both real and personal in Escanaba township by $29,080; decreased real and boosted personal for total increases in Escanaba values by $470,918, and Gladstone by $185,676.

The valuations for the various units as fixed by their boards of review, and the valuations as equalized by the county board are as follows:

Niederauer Named Assistant Manager Of Paper Company

Edward H. Niederauer, now general superintendent of the Escanaba Paper company, has been assigned additional duties and is now general superintendent and assistant manager, it was announced today by E. G. Bennett, manager of the company.

The change followed the appointment of C. E. Mason to the staff office of the vice president in charge of operations, and he will work out of Chillicothe, O., headquarters of the Mead corporation, of which the Escanaba Paper company is a subsidiary.

Mason has been a resident of Escanaba for a couple years and he is expected to return to Escanaba and Manistique from time to time in connection with the work in his new position. In Escanaba he was active in civic affairs and at the time of his transfer was president-elect of the Escanaba Rotary club. He will begin his new duties at Chillicothe about July 1.

Niederauer has been employed with the Mead Corporation since he graduated at Purdue University in 1929, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in chemical engineering. He has served in various capacities in Kingsport, Tenn., Sylva, N. C., and Philadelphia. He came to Escanaba in 1947 from Kingsport where he was assistant production manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Niederauer and their children reside at 1200 Eighth avenue south.

Broadcast authorizations for 1948 increased 400 over the previous year, bringing the total number of stations to nearly 4000. Of this figure, 3163 are major broadcast outlets.

Potato Growers Must Apply Now For Certification

All farmers of Delta county who are planning to apply for certification of their potatoes must send in their applications as soon as possible, it was announced today by J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent.

Four Delta growers have so far submitted applications through the agent's office to the Michigan Crop Improvement Association. These applications should be made at once if the grower plans to have his fields certified.

This year a new program has been started—the growing of foundation seed stock. This is a step higher in the certification program, and of the 13 growers of the U. P. entered so far, three are in Delta county.

They are Frank Falkies of Baldwin township, Octave Carrigan of Corneli and Clarence Dittich of Bark River Rt. 1.

Turkey, with an area of 296,503 square miles, has only some 26,000 odd miles of roads of every description.

Lt. Fredrickson Is On Navy Expedition Into Arctic Circle

Lt. William Fredrickson, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fredrickson of this city, is with U. S. Navy fleet which has departed from San Diego on the first leg of a cruise to the northernmost tip of Alaska. Lt. Fredrickson is aboard the Achenar, attack cargo ship.

After loading 45,000 tons of cargo at West Coast ports, consigned to naval and other government agencies in north Alaska, the expedition is sailing from Seattle in July to thread the narrow coastal channel that opens in the Bering Sea ice field in late summer, making Point Barrow temporarily accessible by sea.

The main purpose of the expedition is to resupply the Navy's oil exploration project for another year's operations in the 35,000 square mile Petroleum Reserve, which lies within the Arctic Circle. However, 260 Navy Reservists from many sections of the country have been assigned to the ship's crews to get in their annual training.

"I knew you'd get me and I couldn't take it," he quoted Beatty as saying.

Beatty's surrender and statement evidently cleared 23-year-old Ray Ernest Lamphear, mental hospital fugitive, of suspicion.

Arrested in Racine, Wis., Lamphear first accepted the guilt, then denied it, to the bafflement of police. He also lived in the vicinity of Walter's home. He will be returned to the Wisconsin institution from which he had fled.

New Forest Fire Fighter Put Through Paces Here

The latest in forest fire fighting equipment was put to the test today by the U. S. Forest Service in a demonstration conducted in Hiawatha National Forest north of Nahma Junction.

Attracting the most attention was a new piece of equipment that can plow a firebreak furrow and throw water at the same time.

The designer and builder of the new tractor-tanker, Einar Aamodt, fire equipment engineer of the U. S. Forest Service, was on hand to point out its advantages to Forest Service officials and administrative personnel of the Manistiquie and Escanaba Paper companies. For one thing, the machine can get to many of the more inaccessible places that ordinary tankers and pumpers cannot reach. It is such out-of-the-way places that offer the greatest handicaps to forest fire fighting crews.

Aamodt works cooperatively with Gilbert I. Stewart at the Roscommon, Mich., forest fire experiment station in developing fire fighting equipment of all types.

The demonstration of pumper equipment began at 10 a. m. today at the Forest Service's flowing well picnic grounds north of Nahma Junction on Highway 13.

This afternoon, following lunch, several types and sizes of tractors and plows were demonstrated about seven miles north of the picnic grounds. The equipment was operated in various ground and cover conditions, especially slash, where many of the more serious forest fires start.

Attending the demonstration were Forest Service representatives of the Raco and Moran, Munising, Manistiquie, Rapid River and Escanaba districts. The Munising district was represented by forest rangers, assistant rangers and equipment operators. Representatives of the Escanaba and Manistiquie paper mills were particularly interested in the water pumping equipment.

Forest Service officials from Escanaba were Paul Wohlen, forest supervisor; George Young, assistant supervisor; Art Schafer and Ray Knudson, staff assistants.

Request of County Employs For Wage Increase Held Over

On recommendation of its finance committee the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday temporarily tabled a request of the county employees union for wage increases, indicating that the request would be considered at the board's October appropriations meeting.

The request for wage increases came before the board yesterday for the second time. It was first presented to the board last spring by Emil Johnson, deputy sheriff, and president of the Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees. At that time the board rejected recognition of the union representative by a one-vote margin but indicated it would give the wage increase request further study.

Other business before the board included an appropriation of $350 for the U. P. Children's Center at Marquette; and the tabling until October of a budget request by Pinecroft sanatorium, Powers. The board also authorized the purchasing committee to meet with Probate Judge William Miller on the requested purchase of two new typewriters for his office.

Men Fined, Jailed For Theft of Gas

Gladstone, June 28—Francis Brown, 24, of 18 North 7th street, Gladstone, is spending 30 days in the county jail in lieu of payment of a fine of $25 and costs and Raymond J. Therian, Route 1, Gladstone, paid a fine of $25 and $5.15 costs for theft of gasoline. They were arraigned today in Gladstone justice court.

They were arrested by Gladstone city police Saturday night near the DuRoy Auto Service. Police said they had several cans with them and it appeared evident they had been using them to carry gasoline.

12-Year-Old Boy On Bike Injured When Hit By Car

Waino Gotz, 12, of Milwaukee, who has been visiting relatives in Wells, suffered a concussion and abrasions and other injuries when struck by an auto driven by Nick Heyson, 19, of 25 Highland avenue, Wells, while riding his bicycle on county road 426 four-tenths of a mile south of the junction with US-41 last night.

Gotz is being treated in St. Francis hospital where he was taken by Donald Marvic, 1514 North 16th street, Escanaba, and where he was reported today to be in a semi-conscious state, not having gained full consciousness since the accident.

The young boy with a number of other youths was returning from swimming in a quarry north of the road junction. He was riding south on the county road when the car approached from the rear.

State police who investigated said the boy apparently began to zig-zag in an effort to escape being hit and the car swerved to the left just as the bike swerved to the left. The bicycle was struck at the rear.

Court Edict Opens New Freedom Hope For War Criminals

Washington, June 28 (AP)—International war criminals seeking freedom from American imprisonment today charted a new course toward U. S. civil courts, along a route marked out by a supreme court justice.

Attorneys for Japanese war lords serving prison terms for war crimes said they probably will seek American court action as a result of an opinion handed down yesterday by Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas' views dealt with a case the supreme court disposed of six months ago in what he now calls a "potentially dangerous" decision—even though it was one he agreed with.

In that ruling, the court held that it had no power to hear the appeals filed by wartime Japanese Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 other former Japanese officials, because they had been found guilty by an international tribunal.

Douglas said he hasn't changed his mind about that, although it troubles him because "it leaves no room for judicial scrutiny of this new type of military tribunal which is evolving."

Then he added what was virtually an invitation to American-held war crimes prisoners to try for a new court test.

Despite the high court's lack of authority in cases tried by international tribunals, Douglas said, persons convicted by such tribunals have a right to ask American lower courts to decide whether they are being legally withheld if their jailers are Americans.

Baby Sitter Scalds Twins In Bath At Hammond, Ind. Home

Hammond, Ind., June 28 (AP)—A 14-year-old baby sitter was accused today of putting a set of twins in bath water so hot that 18-month-old Carol Gora died.

The baby's brother, Robert, was in critical condition in St. Margaret's hospital as a result of the scalding last Thursday night.

Police started an investigation when the girl died yesterday but refused to say whether the unnamed baby sitter will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Deputy Coroner B. W. Chidlaw said the girl reported she had felt the bath water and decided it wasn't "too hot." Chidlaw said

Great Britain Calls For Aid Of Colonies In Financial Crisis

London, June 28 (AP)—Britain has called the commonwealth's highest financial and economic planners to emergency talks on its deepening economic crisis.

Official sources reported today the conference of finance ministers will be held in early July at a date to be settled later.

Invitations were sent last week to Australia, Canada, Ceylon, India, New Zealand, Pakistan, and South Africa. Only South Africa has so far accepted.

An official statement formally announcing the talks is expected later today.

Purpose of the meeting would be to talk over ways and means of cutting down the drain on Britain's gold and dollar reserves. These have dropped from $2.20-2.08,000,000 to $1,884,000,000 in the past year despite Marshall plan aid and an all-out export drive.

V. E. Amo Dies Of Heart Attack At Summer Home

V. E. Amo, 47, of 726 Sunset road, Ironwood, a brother of Mrs. Albert C. Larson of Wautoma, Wis., formerly of Escanaba, and an uncle of Mrs. Harry V. Hogan of 808 South 15th street, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the family cottage at Manitowish Waters, Vilas county.

Mr. Amo, who had visited here on numerous occasions, was known to many Escanaba people. He was born July 1, 1901, in Jeffris, Wis. He married the former Esther Martinson of Washburn in March 1924 at Washburn. The couple resided at Park Falls for several years.

The deceased moved to Ironwood in 1935 with his family as a manager of the A & P store then located on Aurora street across from the Carnegie library.

He and the family had gone to their summer home Saturday night for the weekend. Fishing was his hobby.

Surviving are his wife, three sons, John, at Michigan Tech, David and William, at home, two grandchildren, his father, John Amo, and a sister, Mrs. A. C. Larson, both of Wautoma, Wis.

Funeral services which Mr. and Mrs. Hogan are leaving tonight to attend will be held Wednesday afternoon at the McKevitt funeral home with burial in Ironwood.

"Rented the first day" said Smith.

Labrador Iron Ore Ready In 1952

NEW ENGLAND is in for a boom if the rosy predictions of the New England Council come true, as presented before the New Hampshire Executive Management Institute in Durham, N. H., last week.

First shipments from the huge Labrador iron deposits will be made in 1952, and the iron can be delivered to New England mills at the same prices as Mesabi iron ore in Duluth, according to council spokesmen. The Labrador ore is understood to be richer than that mined on the great Mesabi range in Minnesota.

The Hollinger-Hanna Company, which owns the Labrador deposits, will start shipping ore 12 months ahead of previously announced schedules. Shipment involves the building and operation of more than 200 miles of railroad north from the St. Lawrence river.

"Not only are integrated steel plants feasible for New England, but New England itself can consume more than a million tons of steel a year," said Wallace Dickson of the New England Council. "Furthermore, New England steel can be delivered in New York, for the local and export markets, at considerably less per ton than can steel from Pittsburgh or Great Lakes ports. There is likely to be a decisive change in the next few years, in the nature of New England's manufacturing economy, away from textiles and toward metal working."

Transportation specialists believe that the developments in Labrador will practically insure the building of the St. Lawrence Seaway before many years. Inland interests who formerly opposed the waterway will now work for its completion, in order to secure supplies of cheap Labrador ore. It is expected that New England, New York and Canadian interests will favor this stand, inasmuch as the immense new ore ranges are opening up an entirely new picture for inland transportation.

This Really Must Be A Good Show

THE Chicago Tribune of Saturday, June 18, has a brief editorial, "One That Mr. Hoover Missed," with an Upper Peninsula flavor and the mockery that often distinguishes that paper's editorial columns. It is as follows:

"In addition to being one of the great sights of America, the Soo ship locks, as anyone knows who has ever ridden through them, are most efficiently operated.

"They are run by the Army engineers. The engineers also have a park around their headquarters at the locks. The park has grass, naturally enough, and also naturally, the grass has to be watered."

"The Army engineers water the grass in this manner: One man in a truck tows a portable gasoline-powered fire pump to the edge of the channel. He drops the intake hose into the water. Three other men sit out on the lawn and hold the nozzle of a 2-inch hose."

Teen-Age Auto 'Games'

NOT long ago a Chicago policeman reported this:

Some teen-agers assembled on a lonely street and drew a white line down the middle of the pavement for several hundred yards. Then they piled into two cars placed at opposite ends of the chosen section.

Suddenly the cars leaped forward and hurtled toward each other at gathering speed, keeping close to the white line. At what seemed the last possible instant, one veered off and avoided a head-on crash.

This was so wild, suicidal gesture of a gang of fugitives from a mental hospital. These were normal youngsters and this was a game. Sport—1949 version. First man to turn off the white line, you see, loses the game.

This is only one example of a fantastic fad that has swept the nation's youth. To be fashionable in the teen-age set these days, a lad needs a souped-up "hot rod" or a friend with one, some nifty pants and a fiendish talent for cooking up death-defying road stunts.

Here are a few other popular antics right now:

Half a dozen kids pack into a car, get going about 70 as everyone hovers as close as possible to the wheel. Then the driver lets go. The first one to touch the wheel is "chicken." Thirty who wouldn't be chicken died from this little pastime last year.

Another trick is to have three boys crouch on the floor of a car, operating the brake, clutch and accelerator at the driver's command.

A weird game that might be called "rotation" demands a sedan, six youngsters and the inevitable 70 miles an hour. At that speed the driver suddenly opens the front door of the car. The man next to him takes the wheel, while the first man works his way to the rear seat by the outside route.

Meantime, a rear seat occupant has opened a door on the right and, fighting the wind, has managed to get up into the front seat.

This process is repeated until all six boys have driven the car or are laid out in the morgue.

Needless to say, these crazy invitations to death and destruction contribute heavily to the abnormally high accident rate among teen-agers. The situation is so bad that Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company, taking a special interest in the problems, has coined the word "teenicide" to describe the youthful dare-devils.

In 1947, last year with complete figures, 7500 persons under 25 years of age were killed in automobile accidents—about a fourth of all traffic deaths.

That's not the worst of it. When such a youth gets behind the wheel, the record shows he is at least twice as dangerous as a mature adult. To illustrate from just one age category, 16-year-olds are involved in nine times as many accidents as the 45-50 group.

James S. Kemper, head of Lumbermen's Mutual, says the nation must combat this menace three ways: with sound programs to teach better driving, preferably in schools; with stricter enforcement of traffic laws and tougher license requirements; and with better guidance and example from parents.

The merit in all these seems obvious. We would put special stress on license requirements. They ought to be imposed in the four states that have none and the age minimum raised in the eight that still license 16-year-olds. The stunt should lose his license for a long period.

By these and other means we may be able to convey to our adventurous youth that a car is not a gigantic toy to be handled like a kid's windup turned loose for a wild, pilotless dash amid the family furniture.

Farmer's Share Of Dollar Declines

FARMERS received only 49 cents out of each dollar spent for farm food products during April of this year, the first time that the farmer's share has dropped below 50 cents since May, 1943, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports.

This means that farm income may drop below the wartime levels, but it is not expected to reach prewar lows. In Delta county, 1948 farm income amounted to an estimated $2,891,000. Census Bureau records set actual farm income in Delta county at $2,494,000 in 1944 and $853,652 in 1939.

According to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics the April 49-cent farmer's share, a six-year low, follows a fairly steady decline begun in September 1948 when the farmer's share was recorded as 53 cents. During the past 16 months the farmer's share has dropped six cents from the 58 cents recorded in January, 1948. Local farmers are expected to feel the decline in the farmer's share of the consumer dollar.

SENATE SAVERS

(Christian Science Monitor)
The United States Senate is in favor of economy—provided President Truman does the cutting and takes the kicks. The senate has failed repeatedly to make specific cuts itself. It has even increased some appropriation bills received from the house. But 55 senators have now signed a petition demanding action on the five-to-ten resolution—"directing" the president to reduce federal expenses by 5 to 10 per cent.

This is not the most courageous way to economize. It is a further sign of a disturbing development in representative government. Originally that system grew out of the people's representatives putting checks upon kings who needed money and found taxes more convenient to collect when voluntarily voted. Congress still likes to ease taxes. But it also likes to spend money to please special groups of voters—veterans' and farmers' blocs being current examples. Individual congressmen fear punishment when they cut expenditures desired by such groups.

That is why it is easier to ask the president to do the cutting. The method leaves to the executive general discretion as to where the cuts shall be made—so long as salaries of congressmen are not touched. This is wiser than slicing off 5 to 10 per cent everywhere. But it puts the president on a spot he may easily refuse to occupy—unless Congress overrides a veto. Faulty as the method may be, it is better than no economy.

Next door reminds us that one of our crying needs is more spankings.

An election is a great thing to prove how many people can vote unintelligently.

RADIO SPEECH PORTRAIT OF SEC. DEAN ACHESON

Voice: A rather heavy baritone, low in volume, and of a timbre that does not "mike" well. It is a rather old-sounding voice. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to describe the secretary's voice as tired sounding, as well it might be.

Enunciation: Better than the average lay broadcaster. His words are easy to understand, although occasionally a word or two is blasted by his speaking too close to the microphone. Crowding, or eating the mike, as radio people say, is a common fault among non-professional broadcasters. I call it the "telephone technique." It not only produces blasters, it also makes a speaker's breathing too audible, clearing the throat become a horrid noise. A cough almost shatters the eardrums. The speaker should stand at least 18 inches from the microphone. If he must cough or clear his throat, he should turn his head away, or, better still, step aside for a moment.

Style: Factual, unharried, and somewhat colorless. Mr. Acheson's manner of speaking is unpretentious. That is to say,

Climax Near In Hiss Case

By MARQUIS CHILDS

New York.—Against the dark paneling of the courtroom the slight figure in a light summer suit has an almost boyish look. For Alger Hiss and for all of us, participants and spectators alike, in the solemn quiet of the room this is the climax.

It began nearly a year ago in quite a different atmosphere. With the sensational headlines growing out of the investigation of the House un-American activities committee the life of respectable, even distinguished public service that Hiss had led came abruptly to an end.

He was accused of treason. His face and his name appeared on the front pages of newspapers everywhere. All the details of his past were spread out for public view. He resigned from the responsible office he held.

If his ordeal has wrought any change in him, it is not outwardly apparent. There is the same quiet, confident manner that has marked him from the beginning.

If he is afraid, if he has doubts, if he has been seared by his grueling experience, he does not show it in any way. Occasionally a slight smile relieves the serious expression of this thin face. And that is true especially when his chief counsel, Lloyd Paul Stryker, asks him to identify his wife who has been sitting at his side from the first day of the trial up until he took the witness stand.

—A BAFLEING CASE—

As he describes his career, he speaks in a voice so low that Stryker has to ask him to speak up so the jury can hear him. You get some idea as the narrative goes on of how much hard work went into that career.

It has been so from the first years. This is one kind of an American success story—The leader in his church, in his high school class, a Phi Beta Kappa, one of the editors of the Law Review in his class at Harvard, a happy marriage, a devoted husband, responsible public office, trust and confidence.

There was never a wrong step, never a doubtful turning. That is what is so supremely baffling about this case—this American Dreyfus case—that this man should be accused.

Why? How has it come about? Regardless of the outcome of the present contest, that is what any but the most prejudiced person must ask. If Whitaker Chambers is lying, then what is the motive? What malignity could motivate the destruction of another human being?

As far as the layman's superficial judgment goes, Hiss is getting as fair a trial as is possible in the jittery, over-suspicious atmosphere of the present day. It is being conducted in a calm orderly fashion without sensationalism and with press and public kept to the strictest decorum.

The jury has as solid, upper middle-class look. The women wear hats that look as though they were expensive. You feel they will do their duty in a solid, substantial way and certainly you would not suspect in them any latent sympathies for the New Deal which might sway them in Hiss' favor.

—A COSTLY DEFENSE—

But when all this has been said, something almost equally important must be added. If the battery of lawyers at the defense counsel table are charging their usual fees, then the defense of this cast must cost at least $50,000.

A reasonable fee for Stryker perhaps, the ablest trial lawyer in New York, would be a thousand dollars a day. Edward C. McLean and a number of the younger lawyers in his firm spent days and days in the preparation of the case. This included a great deal of detective work leading up to the recovery of that battered old woodstock typewriter.

The court costs, the cost of the record, the taking of depositions, all this adds to the bill. Dr. Carl Binger, the psychiatrist retained by the defense to observe Whitaker Chambers as he testified, would have a standard fee of $40 or $50 an hour.

The defendant must pay this bill. It happens, of course, that a number of his loyal friends who believe passionately in his innocence are helping to pay it. Yet nevertheless the staggering cost of the defense is part of the ordeal. And it should be perfectly obvious that without such a defense to match, or match in part, the infinite resources of the government and the FBI, it would not be a fair trial.

There is no slightest sign of this in the serene face of the defendant. There is no trace of it in the firm voice in which he replies with a denial to questions about the charges brought against him. It might be someone else who was on trial, some other person whose entire future turns on the decision of the 12 men and women in the jury box.

he employs few of the striped-pants tricks of speech which, apparently, are standard equipment of the state department.

I cannot say, however, that the secretary's speech pattern is Standard American. His accent is eastern, with a thin patina of the British, although not as eastern as the typical speech, say, of Boston. Let us call it a modified eastern with a tinge of the British. I hasten to add, however, that his speech pattern does not suggest affectation.

Pronunciation: Exceptionally accurate. During the 30-minute broadcast check for this article, no word was mispronounced. Especially, he did not say "program, guv'm't" or "Worshindun."

His "a" is broad in after (ahf-ter) and past (pahst), but flat in other such words as last, chance, plant.

His most pronounced British trait is the peculiar diphthong sound of the long "o" in such words as go, ago, know, home, zone. (There isn't room here for a description of the British long "o.") I'll discuss it in tomorrow's article.

Summary: Voice, 10; enunciation, 20; style, 20; pronunciation, 20. Total, 70. Rating, good.

Anyhow, It's a Lot Better Than a Wider Split

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

THE DANCE—The music of the accordion was lively enough to set feet tapping among the on-lookers at the dance following the 40th anniversary program of the Bay de Noquette Grange at Stonington.

Pete Lorenson, one of the older Stonington residents and a member of the Grange for many years, whirled and skipped young Mrs. John Graese through a schottische with the agility of a man half his years.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Sundstrom danced the old dances with the grace and ease that comes only with practice. The young couples added variations to the traditional steps, whirling so fast on flying feet that it rocked the Grange hall floor.

The music ended and the dancers applauded. Peder Pedersen, the Grange master, smiled broadly. The Grange's 40th anniversary party was a success.

FAMILY AFFAIR—Under the lights that hung among festoons of colored paper the dancers whirled and skipped to the music. There were young dancers and old, ranging in age from early teens to past three score and ten. There was laughter and gaiety in the hall, for the dance was being enjoyed by people who knew each other well. Often father danced with daughter, or mother with son. It was a family affair. Many of the onlookers were young children who had been taken along so their parents might not miss the fun.

THE NOTICE—Prominently displayed on the wall of the Grange hall between two windows is a large placard. It notifies anyone who is interested that it is the policy of the Grange not to permit beer, wine or alcoholic liquor on Grange premises.

AND THE COFFEE—The dancers surged through the doorways out to the wooden steps to cool off, for the night was warm. The lights above the doorway attracted the big brown June bugs and they flew and fell down on the heads of the people, causing the girls to scream and the boys to laugh and show their courage in brushing the bugs away.

The cars were parked close to the building. Beyond them was the road that bordered the top of the Stonington cliffs—high bluffs of limestone whose base is washed by the waters of Little Bay de Noc. Out across this water, some four miles away, were the glittering lights of Escanaba. You could locate the harbor light blinking on and off, part of the word "Escanaba" in red neon on the water tower, and a little farther to the north were the long straight rows of lights on the ore dock. Escanaba looks mighty small from four miles away—small and not very important.

Certainly not so important as the invitation to have coffee, some of us stepped inside the room at the back of the hall, where George Bonfield stood behind the big table, filling coffee cups and serving bottles of orange pop.

THE OLD DAYS—We noted that the younger people went for the cold pop, while their parents and grandparents drank coffee—usually black. There were sandwiches and fried cakes, too.

The rush for refreshments easing off, George took time to talk with us about the early days in Stonington. Not that George per-

INTO THE PAST

Twenty Years Ago

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fillmore and daughter Verna, of Minneapolis, arrived here Tuesday by motor to spend a week at the home of Mr. Fillmore's sister-in-law and brother, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fillmore.

Escanaba—Alexine Meloche was named as a state delegate to the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters convention in Chicago.

Rapid River—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hamilton and children drove to Marquette Tuesday. Miss Margaret Hamilton remained there to attend the summer session of the Northern Michigan College of Education.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Miller left Wednesday for their home in Benton Harbor after a few days visit here. Mr. Miller will be remembered by the older residents as the first mayor of Gladstone.

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—John Brennan left last night for South Bend, Ind., following a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Brennan, 522 South 9th.

Gladstone—A large number of persons will participate in the boat trip to Maywood Wednesday evening, the first of a series of such parties planned by the Gladstone Yacht club.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Frisell Danielson and Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Danielson have returned from Alpena where they attended the wedding of Miss Margaret Tanney and Ralph Danielson.

Escanaba—The women of the Escanaba golf club will be hostesses to the sixty-eight members of ten clubs in the Upper Peninsula at the Upper Peninsula invitation-al meet tomorrow.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Westberg are the parents of a son born Monday, June 26 at St. Francis Hospital.

sonally knows of those days, but his parents were among the pioneers of the Stonington community, and he is preparing a history of Stonington for the Delta County Historical Society. This paper will be presented to the Society at its meeting scheduled Sunday, Aug. 7, at the Peninsula Point lighthouse park.

Quite a few of the older Stonington people now live in Escanaba and elsewhere in the county. George said. Among these are Hans Bonfield and Peter Jensen of Escanaba and George Wilsie of Pine Ridge.

Art Sundstrom joined us to remark about the days when he maintained boat service between Escanaba and Stonington with the Belle C., a service that continued for many years and was discontinued about 20 years ago. The Belle C. also carried blueberry pickers from Escanaba to the plains near Squaw Creek each season.

AND THE NEW—Today Stonington folks have a lively interest in present-day affairs and are talking plans for a new township hall and community center. The plans for the hall are being studied to make sure there will be a floor large enough for basketball games, although the project has not yet gone beyond the planning stage. This summer baseball has taken firm hold in the community and games are well attended.

And not the least of the people's interest is in the restoration of the old Peninsula Point lighthouse, a project sponsored by the Grange. At the Grange dance Thursday night the word went around that the first lighthouse "repair bee" would be held on Sunday. The work will be completed at other "bees" to be held this summer.

Dangerous Driving

Dear Editor:

I saw the car in which those Escanaba young men tried to escape from the police. They drove past my home shortly after midnight, traveling without lights, at a speed I would estimate at 60 miles an hour. They did not stop at stop signs or slow down at cross streets.

A few minutes later my wife drove home from the house of a friend. I watched her as she turned into our street. If she had been a few minutes earlier she would have been struck by that darkened, speeding car that roared down our street as fast as an express train.

I do not care, particularly, what happens to those young men. I do care, very much, about the safety of my family.

The speed of that car, the darkened lights, the running of stop signs, the evasion of the police, make the operator of that car more than guilty of speeding. In the hands of such drivers an automobile becomes a dangerous—sometimes deadly—weapon.

As I say, I do not care, particularly, what happens to those young men. I only hope that the innocent will never suffer because of their traffic negligence.

Escanaba Man.

Health Insurance

Dear Editor:

I follow the PRESS closely and I have been disappointed that you have not published any information for your readers that is PRO the national health legislation pending before Congress. I have read your editorials against it and observed that you have given good coverage to those groups such as the Rotarians or Kiwanians who have had in speakers to speak against this legislation. You have a responsibility to us to print both sides of the issue. Could we not have a meeting of the administration's proposed measures so that we can judge for ourselves?

Sincerely yours,
Serge F. Hummon,
Rapid River.

(Editor's Note: Although the Press is opposed to the administration's compulsory health insurance plan, we have published Associated Press dispatches concerning the features of the plan and will continue to keep the public informed about developments on this issue, both pro and con.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington.—The state department's Dr. Philip Jessup, trailing homeward after the failure of the Big Four conference in Paris, was reflecting on the high hopes which preceded that conference.

Jessup had been in on the discussions with Gromyko before the conference, and he remembered May 3 particularly. That was the day when the final Russian note was delivered to him in New York, the day when all the world wondered what was in that note. Would the Russians say yes or no?

The note reached Jessup's office, No. 2 Park Avenue, in the morning, and he knew it was the fatal document that would tell whether the blockade of Berlin was to be lifted. He knew it was the climax of his weeks of secret negotiation and hidden meetings with Malik and Gromyko.

But nobody in his office could read Russian . . . frantic search for a translator . . . an hour passed . . . Jessup hid the secret document under his desk blotter . . . another hour passed . . . headlines in the press: "No Reply From Moscow."

Finally, after three hours—a translator. Jessup hurried to his desk, took the fatal document from under the blotter, and said: "Here, translate this quickly. I'm tired of acting like a character in a dime novel!"

LATE MILITARY RECOMMENDATION

The joint chiefs of staff held one of their most significant meetings last week with secretary of defense Louis A. Johnson.

Johnson was about to testify before the senate armed services committee and, before he did so, the heads of the army, navy and air force told him that they seriously questioned the advisability of sending large amounts of arms to Europe under the North Atlantic pact.

The joint chiefs of staff were cautious in making their statement, pointed out that they were making no recommendation, that the final decision was up to the state department. Nevertheless, from a military viewpoint they said they could not justify the expense of arming 25 European divisions. They also expressed doubt as to what would become of these arms in the hands of Western European armies, if Russia invaded.

Note 1—Private comment of senators who heard about the joint chiefs of staff recommendation was: "Why tell us so late? Without arms the North Atlantic Pact becomes an empty shell."

Note 2—While details weren't discussed at the above meeting, it's understood that the nub of the problem is tanks. The U. S. army could send rifles, machine guns, some artillery with no loss. But it has no tanks to spare. European military, especially the French, point out that a modern army without tanks is like an army with pitchforks. It couldn't last a week against the Red army's Stalin tanks—considered the most powerful in the world. Russia has eight tank divisions between the Vistula and Oder rivers alone.

Note 3—The joint chiefs of staff include army chief Gen. Omar Bradley, navy chief Adm. Louis Denfeld, and air chief Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg.

—BLIND JOAN OF ARC—

"There will be no questions," said Chairman Percy Priest of Tennessee when pretty 23-year-old Mildred Wiesensfeld of New finished testimony last week before a Congressional subcommittee.

"You have made one of the finest and best-documented presentations I have ever heard," said the congressman. "No questions are necessary."

The witness could not see the congressmen. She was blind. She had come to urge government funds for research into diseases causing blindness, which is increasing every year, with little being done to find out why. Every year 20,000 are stricken with polio, whereas 30,000 lose their vision.

Miss Wiesensfeld's story began three years ago when she founded the National Council to combat blindness with a capital of eight dollars and no office. Now she is the "Joan of Arc" of the blind and nearblind people all over the country.

Among the things she told the congressmen: "There are 260,000 blind in this country . . . relief and welfare for them costs the government $30,000,000 in a single year. Yet only $400,000 is spent annually for research into the reasons for blindness. In most cases of fading vision, the doctors must sit helplessly by doing nothing. "But I have never lost faith in the heart of America," concluded Miss Wiesensfeld. "It is too late to help me, but

Mrs. Nelson Tells Of Flag Presentations In Big Stockholm Stadium

By MRS. HERMAN G. NELSON

Stockholm, Sweden, June—Packing our belongings and saying good-bye to our many friends have kept us busy during the past two weeks. We shall spend the remainder of our stay in Sweden, until July 29, in Westergothland with friends and relatives. Nearly everybody we have met since we came to Stockholm last Aug. 1 has been wanting to take us to their summer homes or on automobile or boat trips. This is the time of the year when Stockholm people leave their homes in the city to live in their summer homes out in the archipelago or at some body of water.

On June 6, we attended the annual flag day ceremonies in the big Stockholm outdoor stadium, built in 1912 for the Olympics. King Gustaf V, almost 91 years old, participated, as is his annual custom, in giving out flags to representatives of institutions and organizations. Augustana college at Rock Island, Ill., was a recipient this year and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Olson with Sten Sture Allebeck received the flag from the King's hands. On the King's side was Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf and with them Princess Sibylla and little Prince Carl Gustaf, heir to the Swedish throne. He was all in white. Next to him sat three of his sisters. The King spoke very distinctly, with the Crown Prince prompting him on occasion.

Eighteen thousand people sat in the stands to watch the 6,000 persons who marched. There were 121 separate marching groups. Sofia Flickorna and Mrs. Maja Carlquist were among the marchers and when they were almost opposite us Birgit Sistenon spied us and waved. She told Maja, who waved and then all the girls waved at us. Just before the King was to arrive on the stadium grounds the band started to play "Because" softly. As the King entered, there was a "leve" for him and all flags were raised on high.

The King song was sung by all, then flags were placed at a rest position as the audience sang the first stanza of Luther's hymn, "Vad Gud är oss en valdig borg."

When the program was concluded, the King himself called for the traditional four cheers of "Leve" for the Swedish fatherland, after which he made the flag presentations. Then all the groups marched in front of the King and members of the royal family. It was the first flag day participation by the three-year-old Swedish prince, Carl Gustaf, who is in line for the kingship after his great grandfather and grandfather. His father, Gustaf Adolf, was killed in an airplane crash at Copenhagen.

With friends this week, we had dinner at Gyllene Freden, which was made famous by Carl Michael Bellman, who was last of the troubadours in Sweden. He lived in George Washington's time. One of the girls he sang about was Ulla Winblad and the waitresses wear similar dresses to hers now. Here I met many nurses, in Stockholm for their international convention. I talked to nurses from Detroit, Minnesota and Pennsylvania. They are here for only a week and they thought that was much too short a time. They envied me for having had the chance to stay in Stockholm almost a year. American flags had been placed at the three tables occupied by the American nurses.

First "Hot Dog"

With a friend whom we first met in 1929 and 1930 and who is now Scandinavian manager for the United Press, Friedrich Laudon, my daughters and I enjoyed a final visit to Skansen. We rode the long escalator which now carries the people up to this popular outdoor park and museum. We had our first "hot dog" in Sweden. We enjoyed a group of eight folk dancers in costume with two fiddlers. We also heard Spelman-nen Teppo Repo from Finland and then by Sollden we heard the chorus called "Arbetets Vanner" from Finland. We enjoyed chocolate frozen on a stick. Since we had not previously been at Tivoli, the fun area connected with Skansen, we also with Laudon's two daughters enjoyed this experience, including a visit to the "laugh chamber," a hall of mirrors where one sees oneself in all distorted shapes. We concluded the evening by hearing a 25-voice Black Sea Cossack choir, the last number including a Russian Cossack dance by one of the members of the male choir. It reminded me of the Don Cossacks. During the course of a summer, every imaginable type of attraction is offered the public at Skansen. Singers and entertainers from all parts of the world appear here.

My girls and I also have had the privilege of visiting Sweden's noted sculptor Carl Eldh in his studio at Bellevue. I visited him there in 1930 and I wrote to ask for an opportunity of bringing my daughters this time. He graciously consented. We arrived at 3 p. m. on June 13. He showed us first his "memory" flower room. Throughout the visit he was very congenial and he showed the girls his works and explained to us many of the details of each. He paused particularly at the statue of his "Mother" in the garden, which he had made at the age of 17 years. He was 75 years old on his last birthday. When we left, he gave us flowers from his garden and he let Ruth Mae take a snapshot of him by the lavender rhododendrons, of which he picked us a large cluster. He also autographed the girls' books. We were with him for more than an hour, a most delightful visit for all of us.

Margaret had been enjoying many hikes with her school chums. I'll let her tell of one such hike: "Yesterday we biked to a lake called Magelungen, about nine kilometers from Stockholm and we spent the day there. We played ball, hiked, swam, ate and went rowboating. On the way home we stopped at a miniature golf course and played. More fun! Soon we will be leaving Stockholm—it doesn't seem possible that the time has gone so fast."

We are to have the opportunity of making the trip from Stockholm to Westergothland by car

USES BARE HAND TO BUILD HOUSE

Old Nuckols Does Not Need Hammer

By ROBERT C. RUARK

Anthoston, Ky.—Every time I read in the papers about the mud-dle in housing I get to thinking about I. C. Nuckols, a craggy old man who doesn't even need him a hammer to build him a house.

Mr. Nuckols has built him many a house, and he will use a hammer if it's handy, but if he can't lay a hand on one it don't slow up the process any. Mr. Nuckols just rears back and hits that old nail with his bare hand, wham, like that, and she sinks in right up to the head.

Mr. Nuckols' peculiar skill has made him famous for many's the year, because very few people seem to be able to drive nails through one-inch oak planks merely by smacking them with the flat of the palm. It doesn't make any difference to Mr. Nuckols about the size of the nail; he'd just as leave drive him a 60-penny as a 10-penny.

So rare is this skill that Mr. Nuckols says he figures he could have made him millions of dollars and no law could touch him. However, as a pure artist, Mr. Nuckols has been content to employ his rare talent for good, at small profit. He won't bet you he can do it. He just hits the nail on the head.

Cleared-Eyed at 77

I went to call on Mr. Nuckols recently, at his 54-acre farm out-game Thursday evening. The score was 9-4.

U. S. Life insurance companies held assets totalling more than 51 million dollars at the end of 1947.

side of Anthoston. He raises spotted Poland-China hogs there, when he is not driving nails through boards, and it is a mighty pretty place. Mr. Nuckols is burly in build, a little bowlegged, and weighs maybe 215 pounds. He is a clear-eyed, confident old man, almost 77. Mr. Nuckols is a backslid Virginian who went north and has been pining for Goochland county, Va., ever since.

He seemed pleased to have us on the place. He said he reckoned we had come to see whether it was true about him, and he would be pleased to demonstrate. He led us down past the spring and the chicken yard and picked out a stout poplar plank. He spotted a big thick nail in another board, buried so deep he had to use a claw-hammer for extraction. He poised the big nail on the plank, rared back, and drove her clear through with one smack.

Mr. Nuckols said he came by his unique talent when he was a boy back in Goochland county, Va. He said it was raining one day and he was setting in the barn, waiting for it to clear up, and all of a sudden his eye lit on a white-pine packing box with a nail sticking in it. The box had contained Arm & Hammer soda.

It just came to Mr. Nuckols then and there that if a man went at it right, he could drive nails into boards without a hammer, and he started to practice. It wasn't long before he became the marvel of the countryside.

Nickols and Baruch

Mr. Nuckols has never told anyone the secret of his knack. He cradles it as closely as we watch the atom-splitting formula. But he says nothing is impossible, if a man has two things.

"All a man needs to do any-thing he wants to do," Mr. Nuckols says, dragging at his long-stemmed pipe, "is self-confidence and a made-up mind. That's what I tell the children nowadays — they don't even need book-learning if they've got self-confidence and a made-up mind."

Driving back from Mr. Nuckols' house, I started to brood about Mr. Nuckols' formula. It sounded familiar, if phrased a little differently. Then I remembered: Bernard M. Baruch had said that the main thing wrong with the nation right now was indecision based on that uncertainty, a mass hesitation due to a fuzzy future.

Mr. Baruch never drove a nail with his bare hand in his life, but he and Mr. Nuckols share a basic formula. There is not much a man cannot do if he is equipped with self-confidence and a made-up mind, even if the problem is as tough, to quote Mr. Nuckols, as a bull's forehead.

VACATIONTIME HAZARD CITED

Parents Should Direct Child's Activities

Joyous that school is out, and thoughtless in their vacation zest, many Michigan school children will suffer accidental injuries and even death, unless parents and adults protect them through example and through advice, the Michigan Department of Health said today.

"Take time to be careful; it isn't smart to take chances, and it isn't smart to show off," is the major summer accident prevention lesson parents and adults can teach.

Associating each child with a playground group so that he can spend a good share of his spare time in the protected play area is another way to save children from accidents.

Danger In Street
The greatest danger to Michigan school children during the summer months lies in street traffic. These are things you can teach your child about traffic safety:

Do not play in the street.

Never run into the street after a ball or pet; do not rush out from between parked cars or behind buses, or shrubbery.

Cross streets only at intersections and with the light.

Walk on the left side of country roads and never more than two abreast.

Don't carry passengers on your bicycle. Ride it next to the right curb, and use both front and rear lights if you ride at night.

Refuse to ride with a careless or foolhardy automobile driver.

Obey all traffic laws, lights and officers. They are for your protection.

Don't Be Reckless

Michigan's lakes and streams may also be a danger to vacationing children. Many drownings can be prevented by good example and by repeating warning. Tell your child to swim only at guarded beaches, during daylight hours. Never swim after dark, alone, or in swift water. Do not dive into unfamiliar waters. Never swim until over-tired. Wait two hours after eating a heavy meal. Remain seated aboard small boats. Go boating only with an experienced pilot or oarsman. Do not go out when a storm threatens.

Michigan's parks, picnic areas and playgrounds, despite the protection they afford, also are the scene of many childhood accidents each summer. Teach your child to use playground equipment only for the purposes for which it was intended. Don't let him perform reckless stunts for you or others.

Safety At Home

Remember that your child is not safe at home until that home is made safe for him. Then teach him not to climb to high places, nor to sit or stand on railings. Tell him why he must not play with electrical matches, stoves or any electrical equipment and why he must not play near cisterns, excavations or buildings under construction. If he wants to see them, have father or a grownup go with him.

If you live on a farm, be sure your child is old enough to handle the farm equipment and animals he works with. Keep your young child off your tractor.

Have your child immunized against tetanus (lockjaw) a hazard to every barefoot child and everyone who is around horses or farmyards.

Teaching children of dangers and setting a good example for them may save the lives of as many as 200 Michigan children this summer. A total of 236 Michigan children between the ages of 5 and 19 lost their lives during the summer holiday, June to September, last year.

Keep Postmasters Out Of Politics, President Proposes

Washington (P)—President Truman has recommended legislation aimed at completely removing postmaster appointments from politics.

In a special message to congress he urged enactment of a law to authorize the postmaster general to appoint all postmasters subject only to provisions of the Civil Service and Classification acts.

This would mean that the time-honored custom of the president appointing first, second and third class postmasters—of whom there are some 21,000—would be abandoned. Senate confirmation of the presidential choices likewise

KIWANIS HEARS F. LANGENFELD

Aviation In Philippines, Ethiopia Described

Interesting and amusing experiences in the operation of airlines in the Philippines and Ethiopia were described by Frank Langenfeld of Escanaba in a talk at the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the House of Lodging Monday noon.

Langenfeld, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Langenfeld, 1211 Seventh avenue south, went to Manila in January, 1945, to establish the Filipino airlines in the war-ravaged Philippines. In his Kiwanis club talk, he described the difficult postwar conditions that existed in the country and the problems faced in getting the airline under way.

The airlines started operations with five DC-3 type planes and had 30 ships in operation when Langenfeld returned to this country a year later. Many unusual cargoes were carried, Langenfeld said. The shipments included 2,000 monkeys to be used for poio research in the United States, and 200,000 baby chicks consigned from San Francisco to the Philippines. From Manila, the airlines has routes fanning out to various parts of the Philippines and China.

Upon his return, Langenfeld was assigned by Trans-World Airlines to the operations division of the Ethiopian Airlines, owned by the Ethiopian government and managed under contract by the TWA.

Ethiopia, a country with about seven million inhabitants, is landlocked and aviation is a logical means of transportation, Langenfeld said. The principal industries are mining and oil. The Sinclair Oil company had a concession in Ethiopia, but after expending millions of dollars in development work it lost its contract with the Ethiopian government, headed by Emperor Haile Selassie.

The Ethiopian Airlines began operations with 10 C-47 planes and now carries passengers and cargoes to Cairo, Athens and other outside points. One of the important freight items carried by the planes when Langenfeld was there was honey, which was hailed to the capital, Addis Ababa, for the manufacture of beer.

Langenfeld said that Ethiopia offers much good hunting, but living conditions are primitive and undesirable according to American standards. Sanitation conditions are horrible, and a large percentage of the population is afflicted with leprosy, syphilis, elephantitis and other diseases.

Tom Thompson, former Escanaba and now a resident of Elkhart, Ind., gave a brief report of the activities at the annual convention of the Kiwanis International at Atlantic City, which he recently attended as a delegate from the Elkhart club. He also led the Kiwanians in group singing. Harry J. Gruber, program chairman, introduced the principal speaker, Mr. Langenfeld.

President Fred Johnson announced that the sale of tickets for the Kiwanis-sponsored Mills Brothers circus on July 21 is proceeding satisfactorily. A feature article, concerning an aged chaplain who travels with the circus, appears in the current issue of Coronet magazine. The chaplain holds religious services daily for the members of the troupe, and the circus does not play on Sundays, the article states.

PESTS FROM PLANES
Nine new insect pests have been carried to Hawaii from Pacific islands by airplanes stopping to refuel. If these insects spread, it is estimated that they can cause an annual damage of $10,000,000 to Hawaiian crops.

F. M. ALGER
ROTE SPEAKERTells Of Tax Problems
Confronting State

The State of Michigan is going broke, F. M. Alger, Jr., Michigan's secretary of state, bluntly declared in a talk before the Manistique Rotary club Monday noon.

Current sources of revenue are inadequate to meet present day cost of government and ways and means will have to be found to meet the situation, he declared. Regardless of whether the new taxes to be levied are direct or indirect the public will have to pay, he said. The question before the people, he added, is not so much "do you want an increase in taxes?" but this, "are you willing to pay extra taxes for the services you seem to require?"

Asked whether he thought that part of the sales tax diversion which goes to townships could be repealed, he answered in the negative, declaring that people in the townships have enjoyed the unlooked for benefits of this easy source of revenue and repeal of this law will be extremely hard to obtain.

Alger touched on the matter of improved travel connections between Upper and Lower Michigan, declaring that campaign promises and their fulfillment were two very different things. A bridge at the Straits has been promised in last fall's campaign, he said, but no effort had been made toward its fulfillment. He said a bridge for the present at least, is utterly impossible.

Improved connections, however, he said, would have to be made, but in order to bring this about, the people of Upper Michigan should have more to say. It has been the experience of the past that committees assigned to this matter have been dominantly down state people.

Michigan, he said, is confronted with a serious problem in which the contending forces are the Republican party against the CIO-PAC.

The speaker was introduced by J. Joseph Herbert.

Alger, who made the trip by plane, was met at the local airport by William Ranguette, branch manager of the motor vehicle license department at Escanaba, who later took him to Garden and Gladstone.

Local Employment

Members of House
Get $3,500 Raise

Washington, (AP)—President Truman Thursday signed a bill giving house members an additional $3,000 each for clerk hire and $500 a year for telephone and telegraph messages. In doing so he repeated that the salaries of top government officials should be raised.

The President said in a message to Congress that he signed the increased allowance measure willingly because he believes it is in the interest of the government and the people to provide for the efficient conduct of the public business.

But he indirectly chided the legislators for taking care of themselves while ignoring officials in the executive departments and agencies who have not had a raise in years.

Mr. Truman said bills to raise salaries of key government officials have been reported by committees for weeks but no action has been taken.

Escanaba's Ray Hirn Ties For Low Amateur Medal Honors In U. P.

By James G. Ward, Jr.
Menominee, June 28—Ray Hirn, Escanaba's youthful Upper Peninsula Golf association champion, shot a one-over-par 38-35—73 over the sporty Riverside course here yesterday to tie for amateur medal honors and pace the Escanaba team of Professional Dick Knop, Harry Hogan, Tony Cass and Hirn to second place in the Northeast Wisconsin-Upper Michigan pro-amateur tournament.

Jim Milward, of Green Bay, a well-known professional who has made the winter tournament circuit and done right well by himself among the golfing elite, captured the pro medal with a sparkling two-under-par 70, five strokes better than the second-place pro, Everett Leonard, brother of the host professional, C. R. "Cotton" Leonard, former Escanaban.

The one-pro-three-amateur team championship went to Menominee Riverside, whose John Below, Frank Hruska, Johnny Bourgeois and Hugh Higley compiled 312, two strokes better than the Escanabans.

With Hirn's 73, Cass shot 40-39—79, Hogan 42-39—81 and Knop 43-38—81 for a 314 total. Other teams finished in this order: Manitowoc, Menominee North Shore, Appleton, Menominee Riverside No. 2 and Iron Mountain.

Tied with Hirn for low amateur medal were Dick Daley, 16-year-old Manitowoc ace, and John Hayes, long-driving Appleton star. Tom Messinger, of Houghton, who won the U. P. championship at the age of 16 in Iron River, was tied for fourth with Bruce Christensen, Menominee, runnerup to Hirn in the U. P. last year, and Wally Hanson, Manitowoc. This trio turned in 75's.

The tournament was the first of its kind—that is, a pro-amateur that included northeast Wisconsin and Upper Michigan. The U. P. has had its own pro-amateur affair in the past.

Professionals played for $250 in prize money, top prize of $75 going to Milward, and amateurs shared in merchandise awards which, according to Tournament Manager Joe Mackin, were retail-valued at approximately $600.

By no means is this meant to be a criticism of the management of this particular tournament, and we hope it is not construed as such. It has happened before and elsewhere.

We are interested merely in tightening up management and rules interpretations and decisions in future tournaments so that the emphasis can be on fellowship instead of on technicalities and tempers.

Ted Schroeder Only U. S. Survivor At Wimbledon

London, June 28 (AP)—American domination of the World's amateur tennis is beginning to fray around the edges at Wimbledon.

When the men's semifinals are played tomorrow, only one United States representative will be swinging a teed-off racket.

Seeded Ted Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif.,—he got by his quarterfinal match yesterday only by the skin of his teeth.

Schroeder lost the first two sets to Australian champion Frank Sedgman, then prevailed, 3-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-2, 9-7.

But five others of the 10 top ranking Americans have been beaten. With Schroeder in the semifinals will be Eric Sturgess of South Africa, whom Ted is favored to beat. Jaroslav Drobny of Czechoslovakia, and John Bromwich of Australia.

Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., vs. Mrs. W. N. Blair, Mrs. Part Todd, La Jolla, Calif., vs. Mrs. J. J. Walker-Smith, Mrs. Helen Ribbany, Boston vs. Mrs. E. W. Dawson-Scott, Mrs. Margaret Osborne duPont, Bellevue, Del. vs. Mrs. B. E. Hilton.

Would that all U. P. golf tournaments could be held without any squabbles whatsoever and the solid fellowship which the game is supposed to generate could prevail throughout.

Marring the scene in the Northern Wisconsin - Upper Michigan pro-amateur in Menominee yesterday—believe us, it has happened elsewhere many times—was a mixup on a playoff for the low amateur medal involving Ray Hirn, of Escanaba, Dick Daley, of Manitowoc, and John Hayes, of Appleton.

It shows how much "on the ball" a rules committee has to be at a tournament and how important it is to have a thorough search of the rules made before a definite ruling is made.

Here is the story, as we gathered it first-hand in Menominee yesterday: Hirn and Daley finished in 73's and played a "sudden-death" playoff. Daley getting a par five against Hirn's six on the first extra hole.

Then, it was determined that Hayes had actually shot a 73 instead of a 74 and thus was eligible to play for first place. But instead of a three-way playoff, which would be entirely fair to all three contestants now definitely established at having tied with 73's, Hayes was given permission to play against Daley's five.

In other words, the rather ridiculous picture of one man participating in a playoff going off to shoot by himself against a figure, in this case a five, was presented.

In fairness to all, it is our contention that the three should have teed off together. Thus, conditions, circumstances, pressure of man against man, all this, would have been equal for each. It means something in this game of golf to know your opponent's chances and to see him take those shots and chances and then play your own shot accordingly in keeping with his success or lack of success on any particular shot.

That is why we believe it was unfair for all three contestants in this case not to have a three-way playoff.

At any rate, as it turned out, Hayes could do no better than a six on the first extra hole, and this called for a playoff for second between Hirn and Hayes.

So Hirn was called up to the second tee, and they teed off. Hirn got a regulation par four, and Hayes dropped a 15-foot putt for a birdie three.

The story of Hayes' 73 instead of a 74 is simply this: His ball on one hole was lost in casual water and he dropped another, taking a penalty stroke, and holed out the round for a 74. Later, it was determined that Hayes was not required to take that penalty stroke and hence had himself a 73.

That meant he had tied Hirn and Daley. But by that time, they had already completed their playoff.

By no means is this meant to be a criticism of the management of this particular tournament, and we hope it is not construed as such. It has happened before and elsewhere.

We are interested merely in tightening up management and rules interpretations and decisions in future tournaments so that the emphasis can be on fellowship instead of on technicalities and tempers.

Reds Enjoy Every Minute Of Their Visit In Detroit

In Fact, They Breeze To Win Over Tiges

Detroit, June 28 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds made their first visit in nine years to Briggs Stadium last night and it was a mighty unhappy night for the Detroit Tigers and 15,711 fans.

The National Leaguers mauled the Tigers, 10 to 4, with the Detroiters kicking in six errors for their sloppiest fielding exhibition of the season.

The exhibition game—first of a two-game series with the second to be played in Cincinnati in August—netted the Detroit Amateur Baseball Federation about $22,000.

Since the game was being played for the benefit of Detroit sandlotters, the Tigers entered fully into the spirit of the twilight affair and played like a sandlot team.

Lou Kretlow, who has a 1-2 record in the American League, went the distance for the Tigers. He was ineffective as he gave up 10 hits and six walks and was in hot water practically all the way.

Manager Red Rolfe had decided before the game to let Kretlow work nine full innings and the lefthander staggered through.

It was the Reds first visit to Detroit since they took the Tigers in the 1940 World series and they enjoyed every minute of it.
